In accordance with the policies and procedures of the NCAA, the fund was established in response to the rising expenses of operating an athletic department. The Eagle Club is a board-based group of alumni, community supporters and friends of Benedictine athletics who assist in the University's commitment to excellence. Membership provides a number of incentives including: Eagle Club social events before and after athletic contests; an Eagle Club golf outing; tailgating opportunities; club suite events and more.

Barnes & Noble Bookstore

Barnes & Noble at Benedictine University is located on the first floor of the Krasa Student Center. Offering a wide range of textbooks, reference material and collegiate apparel, the bookstore offers a number of conveniences and even has a textbook buy-back program. Students may make textbook reservations for the upcoming term by visiting www.whywaitforbooks.com.

Career Development

Career Development at Benedictine provides job search assistance to students and alumni seeking full-time, part-time and internship positions. Benedictine is committed to the principles of equal employment opportunity and students are referred without discrimination on the basis of race, color, sex, religion, age or national origin.

Career counselors meet with students to discuss opportunities, prepare resumes, and establish goals for what students need and want to learn. A career service library houses all career-related information for easy access by Benedictine students. ►

Dining Services

The Krasa Center Dining Room, the Coal Ben and the Kindlon Hall Coffee Shop are brought to you by Sodexo Campus Services and the dining team at Benedictine. The Dining Services team at Benedictine is always striving to bring new and improved types of service to our guests. There is a variety of meal plans from which to select for students who reside in residence halls, campus apartments or commute from off-campus.

Housing and Residence Life

Benedictine considers residential life an important element of the college experience and offers a variety of housing options: all-male, all-female or co-educational residences in a mix of residence hall rooms, suites and apartments.

Ondrak Hall, located on the south end of campus, is an all-male smoke-free hall that houses up to 160 students. Ondrak features carpeted rooms with a relaxing lounge on the first floor. A computer lab with Internet access and a printer is available on the second floor.

Jaeger Hall is an all-female smoke-free hall that can house up to 150 students on four floors. Located next to the Krasa Student Center in the heart of campus, Jaeger features a computer lab with Internet access and free laundry facilities on the lower level.

Neuzil Hall, an upper-classmen coeducational residence facility, is located at the northern end of campus and features 44 suite-style rooms each housing three students. Each suite is carpeted, curtained and painted and consists of two bedrooms and one bath with a shower.

Student Activities

Students can choose from more than 40 different organizations for extracurricular activities – each with a faculty advisor and often formed around mutual interests such as the Candor (student newspaper), the Political Science Student Organization (which often hosts candidates' forums and brings other political figures to campus) and the Tri-Beta Biology Club.

Other student organizations include the Investment Club, which manages more than $100,000 of the University's endowment while teaching students responsible investment; Model United Nations, one of the University's most decorated extracurricular organizations; Best Buddies, which enhances the lives of people with mental retardation by providing opportunities for one-to-one friendships and integrated employment; and Club 350, a group that seeks to protect the environment.

A complete list of student organizations can be found at www.ben.edu/studentactivities.

Benedictine is also committed to community service. The University was named to the President's Higher Education Community Service Honor Roll for its participation in a range of volunteer activities during the 2009-2010 school year, including the American Cancer Society Relay for Life and "Sustainable Saturday," a recycling event that collected more than 109,000 pounds of used electrical equipment. Students also help neighboring communities by offering tax preparation services for low-income citizens and seniors.

Benedictine is one of only five colleges and universities nationally selected to participate in the U.S. Department of State's Middle East Partnership Initiative Study of the United States Institutes for Student Leaders, a six-week program designed to familiarize students from the Middle East and North Africa with American culture and institutions. ►

Student Health Services

The goal of Student Health Services is to assist students in maintaining an optimal level of good health in hopes that they will reach their full potential as a student and get the most out of their college experience. Student Health Services does not replace the family doctor but rather provides assessment and treatment that is both convenient and cost effective, thus allowing students minimal time away from campus activities.

Student Success Center

The Student Success Center supports students' academic, personal and professional development through resources and services which serve to maximize their academic success, enhance their student experience and better prepare them for further study or the workforce.

The Center engages students by providing support for academic work as well as co-curricular activities and professional goals.

The Student Success Center is located on the lower level of the Krasa Student Center.

University Ministry

We offer programs and services that assist in the spiritual growth of our students, staff and administration. We celebrate the diversity of faiths at Benedictine. All are welcome and highly encouraged to become involved in the many opportunities in ministry. University Ministry is located in the Krasa Center on the main floor, and is always open. ■

The Summer Before Freshman Year Tips for Parents

- Let your children know it is natural to have doubts, to be unsure what their major will be or how they will adapt to college life. Express trust in your child's ability to make the right choices when the time comes.
- Don't overreact to mood changes or seemingly irresponsible behavior. Your child's anxiety about the first year of college might be the cause.
- You know your child best; if mood changes are excessive and if depression is the prevailing mood, seek the help of professionals. Counseling might put this big transition in your child's life into perspective.
- Focus on important matters. Talk with your child about four major topics: academic expectations, money matters, social choices and communication.
- Guide, don't direct. Rather than expressing your opinion about the best careers or academic choices, ask your child probing questions. When our children own their decisions, they will grow and mature. ■

About Benedictine University

As an academic community committed to liberal arts and professional education — distinguished and guided by its Roman Catholic tradition and Benedictine heritage — Benedictine University prepares its students for a lifetime as active, informed, and responsible citizens and leaders in the world community.

A Benedictine education is designed to be flexible so that it can meet current social needs, developing in its graduates the capacity to adapt as they enter the working world, and the ability to manage change and difficulties in a confident and positive manner. Benedictine fulfills its commitment to its mission through excellence in teaching and interaction between students and faculty.

A liberal arts core prepares all undergraduate students to participate fully in a diverse and dynamic society, balancing their rights and duties as individuals with the demands of the common good.

However, Benedictine seeks to develop more than a student's intellectual being. Members of the Benedictine community are encouraged to achieve a balance in their social and educational lives.

Benedictine students come to understand the self as an integrated physical, intellectual and spiritual being. While the University values the dignity of work, it recognizes that balance with leisure and prayer is equally important.

Living a life in balance helps to enrich one's personal life while fostering friendships and relationships that can span a lifetime. ■

History of the University

Benedictine University bears the name of St. Benedict, born in 480, who is acknowledged as the father of Western monasticism. In 528 he established the famed monastery of Monte Cassino. In the middle Ages, Benedictine monasteries expanded all over Europe, preserving ancient learning and written languages.

Benedictine was founded in Chicago as St. Procopius College by the Benedictine monks of St. Procopius Abbey in 1887. It secured a charter from the state of Illinois in 1890. The College was founded to educate men of Czech and Slovak descent, and most students were of Czech ancestry in the early years.

In 1901, the College moved to the more congenial atmosphere of Lisle, in DuPage County. The first building, Benedictine Hall, was dedicated in September 1901. The building was completed by 1921 and new buildings began to be added after 1926. The College became coeducational in 1968 and was renamed Illinois Benedictine College in 1971.

In response to community needs, graduate, doctorate and adult learner programs were added. The College became Benedictine University in 1996.

Partnerships have spurred the University's growth in the 21st century. In 2003, Benedictine and Springfield College in Illinois partnered to bring Benedictine programs and services to central Illinois. Benedictine University at Springfield now offers a growing range of programs in Illinois' state capital.

In 2004, Benedictine partnered with Shenyang University of Technology and Shenyang Jianzhu University in China to bring Master of Business Administration and Master of Science in Management Information Systems programs overseas.

Benedictine has since partnered with several institutions in Vietnam.

Also in 2004, the University partnered with the Village of Lisle in the construction of The Village of Lisle-Benedictine University Sports Complex, a multi-purpose facility featuring lighted athletic fields with a nine-lane track.

Benedictine opened the Margaret and Harold Moser Center in Naperville in 2006 to meet the needs of adult students and area businesses.

Benedictine University belongs to the Association of Benedictine Colleges and Universities, an organization that promotes the Benedictine traditions of education and hospitality. ■

About the Campus

Benedictine University is situated on a rolling, tree-covered 108-acre campus of 20 buildings with air-conditioned classrooms and modern, well-equipped laboratories. A comprehensive learning center with full media library and a modern and technically advanced science facility, filled with laboratory space, digital classrooms and research equipment opened in fall 2001.

A student athletic center features a new hardwood basketball court with surrounding track surface, three tennis courts and training facilities. The Village of Lisle-Benedictine University Sports Complex, which was completed in 2005, provides top quality football, soccer, and lacrosse, track, and softball and baseball fields. In 2006, the complex was the site of the NCAA Division III Men's and Women's Outdoor Track and Field Championships.

Other campus features include a scenic campus lake, a student center with a dining room, chapel, bookstore and meeting rooms.

As part of the University's ongoing capital improvements, construction of a parking garage designed to accommodate 400 vehicles began in summer 2010 while the Rice Center, the University's athletic facility, was slated to undergo a facelift that includes a student health and fitness center. ■

Academics

Benedictine offers 53 undergraduate majors through the College of Science, the College of Liberal Arts, the College of Business, the College of Education and Health Services, and the Moser College of Adult and Professional Studies. The most popular majors are management, health science, biology, psychology and elementary education.

Benedictine has a reputation for providing a solid education in science. Students have the opportunity to participate in research projects using the latest technology such as the Modulus Single Tube Fluorometer, a multifunctional instrument that helps chemistry students quantify the amount of various chemical compounds and biological macromolecules in samples, and a DNA sequencer, which enables students to investigate the structural information encoded in the human genome.

Benedictine's broad-based liberal arts program creates well-rounded students because the University believes that even if students pursue a career in science, they should be able to read, write and speak well. Benedictine graduates contribute to and are functional members of society, making a difference in the world.

There are three options for education abroad. Students can enroll in partner institutions through Partnership Exchange Programs, or they can participate in programs offered by third parties or in programs developed by Benedictine faculty.

During school breaks, business students travel to Tijuana, Mexico to see the consequences of business decisions made in the United States. They study poverty, urban development, human rights, manufacturing, industrial facilities, working conditions and the impact of NAFTA. Students have also visited China, Japan, France, Spain, Korea, Ireland and Denmark. Alternative Spring Breaks are popular, and students have traveled to Louisiana to rebuild homes destroyed by Hurricane Katrina and to Bolivia to help in orphanages, hospitals and day-care centers. ■

Great Teaching

Benedictine is grounded in the spirit of the founders, who based their lives and work on St. Benedict's Rule for Monks, written in the early sixth century. The University builds its educational life on the values of the Benedictines, including the central celebration of community as a gathering of people who share a commitment to a common mission.

A liberal arts core prepares all undergraduate students to participate fully in a diverse and dynamic society, balancing their rights and duties as individuals with the demands of the common good. Benedictine's core curriculum unites all students with a shared base of broad knowledge. Each student must take courses covering basic skills, enroll in a freshman seminar and choose from a series of courses about cultural heritage.

Benedictine teachers are committed and accomplished. Faculty is frequently honored with local, regional, national, and international grants, fellowships and awards. Many of these grants create opportunities for students to participate in ground-breaking research projects.

Benedictine's students take their studies seriously, and the low student-to-faculty ratio of 16:1, combined with an average class size of 17, allows students to enjoy a close familiarity with professors. Students take advantage of the faculty's open office hours, and professors reach out to get students involved.

The Center for Educational Policy Research (CEPR) at the University of Oregon recently recognized two Benedictine courses — General Chemistry I Lab and General Chemistry II Lab — for reflecting the best of college teaching. Specific elements of the course were also designated as exemplary. ■

Applying to Benedictine University

High school students planning to apply to one of Benedictine's traditional undergraduate programs can apply in one of three ways:

1. Apply online at www.applyweb.com/apply/ben/menu.html. It is easy and you can pay the application fee via credit card or electronic check. Official transcripts and other required documents must be mailed to the Enrollment Center.
2. Download the Undergraduate Degree Programs Application at www.ben.edu/admissions/freshmen/ugapplication.pdf and mail it along with official transcripts and other required documents.
3. Have an application mailed to your home by contacting the Enrollment Center at (630) 829-6300.

Benedictine offers rolling admission into all of its programs, which means that applications are accepted and admissions decisions are made throughout the year. Once a completed admission file is received, it will take approximately 24-48 hours to process. An admissions counselor will call as soon as any documentation is received in our office.

Be sure to complete the following checklist to ensure your admission file is ready for review.

1. Completed application
2. $40 non-refundable application fee
3. Official academic transcripts
4. Official academic ACT or SAT test scores
5. A letter of recommendation from your high school counselor
6. A personal statement of 200-300 words, double-spaced, answering the question, "What are your academic strengths and how will they help you at Benedictine University?" If you meet the admission requirements for Benedictine University, which are a 2.5/4.0 cumulative GPA, 21 ACT/990 SAT, and being at the top 50 percent of your graduating class, a personal statement is not required.

Please call the Enrollment Center at (630) 829-6300 for more information. ■

IT'S A NEW STAY.™

Parking

All student vehicles must be registered with the Benedictine Police Department, which is located on the lower level of the Krasa Student Center.

The Benedictine Police Department also issues employee, temporary and visitor permits. A parking permit must be properly displayed in the vehicle.

The registration of a vehicle and obtainment of a parking permit does not ensure the availability of a parking space, but rather grants the privilege of parking on campus.

Visitor passes are issued for one day for the convenience of those visiting Benedictine. Anyone inviting a visitor to campus is encouraged to obtain a pass within an hour of that person's arrival on campus. All visitors displaying a pass may park in the faculty/staff lots or in student areas.

Parking spaces that are red striped are for faculty and staff. This is enforced Monday-Friday, 7:00 a.m.-4:00 p.m. After 4:00 p.m., there is open parking.

Overnight parking is permitted in the Coal Ben and Neuzil lots only. Vehicles will be ticketed between 2:00-5:00 a.m. in all remaining parking lots. ■

Student Employment

Benedictine provides students with a number of on-campus employment opportunities whether they want to build their resumes or help pay their college bills. On-campus jobs are student-friendly opportunities to work manageable hours and earn a little extra money. The hours are usually flexible, and students are able to work around their class schedules.

The biggest advantage to working on campus is convenience. Students are able to schedule work around their class schedules and do not have to expend any money they could otherwise be saving to drive to their jobs. On-campus employment also allows students to work with faculty, staff and other students and become more familiar with other members of the campus community.

All interested students are urged to apply for on-campus employment. However, some positions are limited to Federal Work Study-eligible students. Federal Work Study is a need-based, federally-funded program assisting undergraduate and graduate students to help meet their educational expenses. Students must complete a Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to determine if they are eligible for Federal Work Study programs.

Students may apply for positions at any time. On-campus positions are available throughout the year. Students interested in on-campus employment should visit www.ben.edu/about/employment. ■

Campus Safety & Security

Benedictine University is committed to the safety of all faculty, staff, students and visitors to our campus. Safety on campus is the result of cooperation between many Benedictine resources.

Benedictine University Police

Benedictine University Police officers come from both municipal and college/university police agencies. They are certified police officers who have full police powers including arrest. Our police officers bring specialized training and experience to Benedictine, which allows them to provide strong service and mentoring relationships with students. Benedictine police officers are familiar with the daily trials and tribulations students may face while attending the University. They are here to help in any way they can, whether a student needs an escort across campus, someone to help them get into their locked vehicle or just someone to talk to. Benedictine Police are here to make a student's experience safe and positive. Learn more on the University Police Web site at www.ben.edu/police.

We encourage students to take basic safety precautions to protect themselves, their friends and their property. We have very few reported incidents of crime on campus and in our residence halls. Learn more about Benedictine's campus crime rates by visiting the U.S. Department of Education Web site at www.ope.ed.gov/security.

To increase student safety, all residence halls have ID card readers requiring students to swipe their cards to gain entrance. The residence halls also have security cameras which are monitored 24/7 by University Police emergency dispatchers and record all persons entering and leaving. A "Knock and Lock" program in the residence halls reminds students to keep their doors locked to prevent theft and personal harm. There are emergency call buttons located inside each apartment in Founders' Woods. Emergency telephones are also located throughout campus. Students are also encouraged to check the monthly Benedictine University Police newsletter which is e-mailed to all campus community members.

Early Alert Team

The mission of the Early Alert Team (EAT) is to provide early intervention and prevention for students who are experiencing distress, engaging in harmful or disruptive behaviors, or who have been identified as at risk. The EAT serves as a point of referral for faculty, staff members, students and/or parents who are concerned about the physical, emotional, academic or financial health of a University student. The EAT can assess the situation, offer support and provide referrals to the appropriate resources on and off campus. ■

Campus Emergency & Inclement Weather Information

There is always a chance that an emergency and/or disaster could occur on the Benedictine University campus. Benedictine's Emergency Response and Recovery Team (ERRT) has developed an Emergency Response and Recovery Plan with the sole purpose of preparing the University community for the event of an emergency or a disaster. A copy is distributed to students, faculty and staff and also hangs in every campus classroom. Learn more about the plan on the University's Emergency Information Web site at www.ben.edu/news/emergency\_info.asp.

The ERRT also coordinates annual fire drills campus wide during the first week of fall classes to familiarize all campus community members with what to do in the event of a fire.

The ERRT alerts the campus through a combination of methods, recognizing that no one communication mechanism will reach everyone. Emergency communications include, but are not limited to, e-mail, the University Web site, the Chicago area Emergency Closing Center, campus building alarm systems, the AlertWave™ public address system and the BenAlert emergency notification system.

Under extreme circumstances, classes may be cancelled due to severe weather, particularly during the winter months when a snowstorm may make driving hazardous. The decision as to whether classes should be cancelled will be made by 6:30 a.m.

Notification of class cancellations will be made on the following radio stations: WGN-720 AM and WBBM-780 AM. The following television stations will also have announcements: WBBM-TV CBS Channel 2, WMAQ-TV NBC Channel 5, WLS-TV ABC Channel 7, WGN-TV 9, Fox-32 and CLTV. Class cancellations will also be announced on the University website at www.ben.edu.

Occasionally, a campus emergency will arise requiring the cancellation or rescheduling of classes. Benedictine University's new "BenAlert" emergency notification system is designed to take the uncertainty out of emergencies.

The BenAlert system enables students to receive alerts (short messages about an urgent or immediate situation) and notifications (follow-up messages that may contain more detailed information that are not as time-sensitive) within minutes by phone, text and/or e-mail messages regarding emergency situations affecting Benedictine.

BenAlert enables the ERRT to schedule and send personalized voice messages to up to six phone numbers per student, and immediately sends messages via four different modes of communication from (630) 829-6622 and/or BenAlert ERRT:

- Voice messages to home phones, work phones, cell phones and even e-mail addresses;
- Text messages to cell phones, PDAs, networked digital signage and other text-based devices;
- Text messages to e-mail accounts;
- Messages to TTY/TDD receiving devices for the hearing impaired.

A student's first and last name and primary phone number that exist in Benedictine's Peoplesoft system have already been entered into the BenAlert system as "BenAlerts" and "Notifications 1." Students may wish to add parents or other interested parties as additional contacts if they want them to receive alerts.

However, a student must go into Peoplesoft's self-service portal through MyBenU at www.ben.edu/mybenu to confirm or update their information, add additional contact information or opt out of this service (although University policy requires at least one contact phone number be in the system for each student). ■
