Welcome from Parent Programs

Welcome Broncho Parent!

We celebrate your student's success in and out of the classroom, knowing your support plays a vital role in helping your student reach the end goal of graduation. The office of Parent Programs is focused on helping you and your student with this transition into the collegiate experience.

This handbook will answer many of your questions regarding college adjustments, campus safety, and the student services we offer. Please keep it on hand during your student's collegiate experience. It will serve as a valuable and convenient reference.

There is also an association specifically designed just for you — the UCO Parents' Association! It was established thanks to the feedback of UCO parents and family members just like you.

The college years are very exciting and sometimes challenging for both students and family members. UCO joins you in a partnership to support and teach your student the necessary tools to becoming an alumnus of our university.

Go Bronchos!

UCO Office of Parent Programs ■

Welcome from the Vice President

Welcome, family members, to the University of Central Oklahoma! We are so delighted that you and your student are joining the UCO Broncho family. This moment marks a new chapter in the life of your student and you, and it is our great pleasure to provide you with as smooth and enjoyable an experience as possible. As a parent myself, I know you want the very best for your son or daughter. The University of Central Oklahoma provides numerous opportunities for your student to get involved, meet friends, make discoveries in the classroom, and to have new cultural encounters; all this in an environment of safety, support and encouragement.

While we have worked hard all year long to prepare this welcome, we know you — the parents and family members of the incoming class — are key to your student's success. With your continued caring and conversation, your sons or daughters will know there is a team, at UCO and back home, is cheering for their success.

Beginning with Parent Orientation in the fall, you have opportunities to learn more about the UCO campus, its services and traditions, as well as the community of Edmond. We offer this guide book to use as a reference as you navigate this new path of your son or daughter's journey. We also invite you to become a member of the Parents' Association, which offers ways to stay in touch with university news and get information about family events on campus.

Please enjoy your visit to the University of Central Oklahoma. We look forward to working as partners to help students achieve their dreams.

Sincerely,

Kathryn Gage, Ph.D.

About UCO

The University of Central Oklahoma prepares future leaders in an opportunity-rich environment, ideally located in the Oklahoma City metropolitan area.

Central offers an innovative learning community where teaching comes first and students develop personal relationships with faculty and staff, like 2008 U.S. Professor of the Year, Dr. Wei Chen, who are committed to transforming lives. With 114 undergraduate majors and 54 graduate programs, Central is a smart investment for students dedicated to their future success. Notable academic programs include the state's only master's degrees in Jazz Studies and Athletic Training, as well as degrees in Dance Education, Humanities, Actuarial Science and Creative Writing. Central is also home to premiere programs in Forensic Science, Education, Music Theatre, Mass Communication, and the Academy of Contemporary Music at UCO (ACM@UCO) located in Oklahoma City's Bricktown district, the only music program of its kind in the country.

Central's appealing 210-acre campus is on track to become a certified botanical garden, offering both a pleasing learning and living environment and a source of pride for students, employees and alumni. Central has been ranked among the top universities nationally in residence life and as one of the top five universities to work for. Central is also a recognized leader nationally for its sustainable and "green" practices, making the campus beautiful and efficient.

Central keeps the community entertained with live music every week at the popular UCO Jazz Lab in Edmond and at the ACM@UCO Performance Lab in Bricktown, along with concerts and theatrical performances at Mitchell Hall Theater from students and the Broadway Tonight series and engaging athletic events from the Broncho men's and women's teams.

Founded in 1890, Central is the state's oldest public institution of higher learning, and with an enrollment of more than 17,000, is also Oklahoma's third largest university. Central continues to cultivate creativity and innovation in every corner of campus, bringing to life its core values of Character, Community and Civility each day. ■

UCO Parents' Association

Our goal is to engage parents and families as members of the university community. Our desires are to increase communication with parents and offer programs benefitting you and your student. The Parents' Association is supported solely by parents of Central students, and your membership dues and contributions will impact your student as well as the generations to come.

The UCO Parents' Association hosts multiple events throughout the year specifically geared for Central parents and families. From Parent Orientation and Parent Weekend to athletic events and more, there is so much to gain from being a member of the Parents' Association.

Parents' Association Website

The UCO Parents' Association website is a backstage pass for parents, providing access to important information at Central. You can sign up for membership, order UCO parent memorabilia, send your student a care package, view details on upcoming events, access important phone numbers and dates, and more! Please visit us online at www.uco.edu/parents.

Parent/Family Helpline

We care about your student. Our helpline for parents and family members of UCO students is a central resource for you to call with questions ranging from academic life to Student Affairs.

Parents' Association Scholarships

Each year, The Parents' Association set fundraising for student scholarships as one of the top priorities. What started as an idea has blossomed into an amazing opportunity to help students for generations to come. An endowed scholarship account has been established that will provide scholarship opportunities to Central students every year. Each spring semester, students can apply for these scholarships and the recipients are announced at the annual Parents' Association Spring Fling. For the past 3 years, students have been awarded $2000 in scholarships.

Undergraduate Admissions

The path to academic success at the University of Central Oklahoma begins with the admission process. Students will continue to use the services of Undergraduate Admissions throughout their college careers. Although most services are available online, students should visit this office when needing:

- ▶ Determination of residency status
- ▶ Irregular or in-person enrollment
- ▶ Processing of permission to enroll forms
- ▶ Sealed official transcripts
- ▶ Enrollment verification forms for insurance
- ▶ Statement of good standing
- ▶ Deferment forms for college loans
- ▶ Complete withdrawal
- ▶ Emergency withdrawals
- ▶ Name changes
- ▶ Add/Drop courses

Undergraduate Admissions is located in the Nigh University Center, Room 124.

ACADEMIC ADVISEMENT

The Center for Undergraduate Academic Advisement is located in the Nigh University Center, Room 121. Advising appointments are offered Monday through Friday. To make an appointment or to check our office hours, call (405)974-2342.

Our freshman advisors will work with students to plan their first academic year and to point them in the right direction toward graduation. Once students have completed 24 semester hours, they will be assigned to one of our academic advisors who specializes in their program area. ■

Office of First-Year Experience Programs

The Office of First-Year Experience Programs (FYE) is a resource center for your student and a place that they should feel comfortable coming and asking for help. The FYE Office is also responsible for multiple programmatic efforts intended to help your student start on the right foot, including Enrollment Central, UCO House Calls and our freshman success course, Success Central.

UNIV 1012, Success Central, is a unique course designed to give first-year students a head start with their college experience. The course introduces students to Central's facilities, services, activities, traditions, and academic expectations. It will also help students establish a sense of community with other students, faculty, and staff.

Additionally, the FYE Office administers our College Placement Tests (CPTs) to determine course placement in the areas of Math, English and Reading. For students required to take these placement tests we also offer preparation and study materials to ensure that they perform at their very best. The FYE Office is also the place to visit for your student to make and receive their UCO Student ID Card.

For more information about any programs or services provided by the FYE Office students and parents can visit www.uco.edu/fye. ■

Student Financial Services

The Student Financial Services office, located in NUC 141, is available to help students meet their educational expenses. As most families qualify for some financial aid, students should apply even if they don't think they are eligible. If students don't qualify for federal income grants, they may be eligible for workstudy programs or scholarships. The Parent Loan for Undergraduate Students (PLUS) is available to any family regardless of income. Types of aid include grants (financial aid that you do not have to pay back), Federal Workstudy (students earn money while working on- or off-campus) and loans (borrowed money that must be repaid with interest). The Student Financial Services Office offers services that include application assistance, online review of aid status, and debt management.

To be considered for counseling assistance students must have applied for admission to UCO and submitted an application for financial aid through the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). Students must reapply yearly. For priority processing consideration, students should have their FAFSA processed and all requested information/documents submitted no later than the listed deadlines. Students meeting these deadlines, if eligible, should receive an award notification and have funds available by the tuition and fee payment deadline (Friday, prior to the first day of classes).

Students not meeting these deadlines may not have funds available by the tuition and fee payment deadline, therefore a charge of $40.00 may be added as a tuition payment late fee.

If students have any questions about their eligibility for financial aid, or if they need further assistance, they should contact the UCO Student Financial Services Office located in the High

University Center, Room 141. Students may also visit our website at www.uco.edu/financial for more information. ■

UCO UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL OKLAHOMA
Housing & Dining

Housing & Dining Services

By choosing to live on campus, students have numerous opportunities to become involved in campus life, typically have higher GPA's than those who live off-campus, and make life-long friendships. UCO Housing and Dining Services works to provide a safe and secure home on campus, encourages community, promotes diversity, provides leadership opportunities, enhances character, and connects students and faculty.

UCO Housing and Dining Services offers unique living environments designed to meet the needs of Central's diverse student body. All halls have wireless internet, local phone service (residents provide their own phone), and all utilities are paid. There are two traditional single-sex residence halls; West (women) and Murdaugh (men) and three co-ed living options; University Suites, Central Plaza, and University Commons (apartment style).

Dining on campus provides students with a great community environment and healthy food options. Our meal plans are designed to provide quality food that meet our students' demanding schedules and lifestyles. Students in all housing options, except the Commons, are required to purchase a meal plan.

Visit us in the Housing building (north of Murdaugh Hall and east of the library), visit our website at <http://housing.uco.edu>, email us at housing@uco.edu, or call us at (405) 974-2746. ■

Health and Wellness

Located in the Wellness Center, the Mercy Clinic at UCO is a health facility where students, faculty and staff can access medical care when they need it. Services include diagnostic x-rays, lab and access to Mercy's comprehensive electronic health record.

Our Wellness Center leads the way on a variety of healthy campus initiatives including our recent transition to a tobacco free campus. The Wellness Center also provides a state of the art work out facility, intramural sports, personal and group training, outdoor recreation opportunities and much more, all intended to enhance the wellbeing of our students, faculty, staff, and the community. ■

Transportation & Parking Services

Parking Decal

To order your parking decal, you must have your UCO ID number, your UCONNECT password (same as UCO PIN), and the license plate numbers for all vehicles you register. Decals are ordered online as follows:

- ▶ Visit www.uco.edu, click on the 'A to Z Site Index' and type 'Parking'
- ▶ Select "Parking Decals".
- ▶ Select "Request a Parking Decal Online".
- ▶ Follow the directions for ordering your decal.
- ▶ You will need to pick up your decal from the Transportation and Parking Services Office (NUC 309).

GreenRide carpooling program, which recently merged with Oklahoma City's GetAroundOK, provides Central students, staff and faculty a way to connect with others in the Oklahoma City metro area for carpool and rideshare options.

Eco-Friendly Alternatives

Central's Connect by Hertz program currently uses four 2010 model year vehicles including a Toyota Prius and Camry, a Mazda 3 and a Ford Escape, which are all parked in two different locations on campus. Each vehicle can be rented at a variety of affordable rates, depending on the membership level chosen, while daily fees vary in price.

To participate in the program, users must apply online at www.connectbyhertz.com, and approved members will receive a Connect by Hertz card used to unlock the rental cars by simply swiping it over the car's reader.

The new car-share program isn't Central's first alternative transportation initiative. The university's successful

Another successful "green" initiative at Central is the Bum-A-Bike program, which allows the Central community to borrow a bike, free of charge, from the UCO Department of Public Safety. ■

Information Technology

The Office of Information Technology (OIT) at the University of Central Oklahoma strives to enhance learning, improve service and communication, and increase student, faculty, staff, and community access to useful information through the application of technology.

The UCO Office of Information Technology serves the campus community in a variety of ways:

Campus Computer Labs

Two open-use extended-hour student computer labs are managed and maintained by Support and Operations. These labs can be found on campus in the Max Chambers Library, room 107 and the Nigh University Center Cyber Café. Each college also operates computer labs within the various classroom buildings on campus.

Virus Protection

UCO has a license with Symantec, which provides virus protection software for the entire campus. All UCO computers are configured to automatically receive the anti-virus product and any updates as they become available.

Additionally, the University has made arrangements for students, faculty, and staff to download and install this anti-virus software on their personal computers. The software can be downloaded through the

Disability Support Services

The mission of the Office for Disability Support Services is to provide and coordinate mandated support services, auxiliary aids, and accommodations for students with disabilities, which allow them to gain equal access to an education. This office also serves as a resource to the University community and promotes awareness so that these students can participate in all facets of University life.

The University of Central Oklahoma complies with Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973 and the American with Disabilities Act of 1990. Students with disabilities who need special accommodations must make their requests by contacting the Office of Disability Support Services, at (405) 974-2516. The DSS Office is located in the Nigh University Center, Room 309. Students should also notify the instructor of special accommodation needs by the end of the first week of class.

The Office of Disability Support Services also promotes disability awareness through activities and programs such as Disability Awareness Week. ■

Central Alert

Central Alert is UCO's emergency notification system. It allows authorized UCO officials to send news and instructions simultaneously to individuals through landline phones, cellular phones, text messaging, e-mail and pop-up message to campus computers.

We encourage students to update their contact information through either the Central Alert Channel or the Personal Information Channel on the Home Tab in the University's portal, UCONNECT (<http://uconnect.uco.edu>).

In order to receive text alerts and/or to receive weather alerts through the Central Alert system, students must opt-in by providing a text-enabled, text message phone number through UCONNECT. Look for the "My Central Alert" option within the "Central Alert - UCO Emergency Notification System" portlet.

Police Services

UCO Police Services employs 17 certified Officers. Our department provides the UCO Community with 24-hour service and protection. Along with patrolling the UCO campus and adjoining streets, Police Services officers also patrol University apartment complexes on a regular basis.

Police Services offers numerous programs and initiatives designed to enhance the safety and security of our campus, including:

- ▶ Campus Safewalk Program
- ▶ Broncho Five-O (Student tip-line)
- ▶ Operation ID (Personal property engraving)
- ▶ Bicycle Registration ■

Welcome to Edmond, OK!

Dear UCO Parents,

We are delighted you have chosen for your student to attend the University of Central Oklahoma. Being home to this university is special to us and we are honored to do our part in helping educate tomorrow's leaders. In Edmond, we pride ourselves on providing all our visitors with exceptional hospitality, world-class golf courses, fine dining and unique opportunities for family fun.

Edmond is considered by many to be the "Crown Jewel" of Oklahoma. From first being founded by one of the famous Oklahoma Land Runs in 1889, today Edmond has come to be a great city for culture, history, art, fine dining, youth sports and just downright fun! This is a perfect opportunity for you and your student to enjoy some of Edmond's best attributes.

Public art and art for the young at heart are all a part of any visit to Edmond's historic downtown shopping district. This is a distinctly enjoyable part of our city where life-sized bronzes cavort on seemingly every corner. As a city, Edmond has made a commitment to fostering a more civil society through an environment which features a growing collection of some of finest original sculptural artworks of today.

If "putting around" is more your style, you can play more than 300 holes of championship golf during your stay in one of Edmond's friendly and luxurious hotels. Known for hosting exceptional PGA events, Edmond is home to numerous courses for every level of play. From miniature golf for the whole family to PGA National Championship venues, you're sure to find a course to suit you.

Looking for a more pampered experience? Be sure to check in at one of Edmond's exclusively elegant Bed & Breakfast Inns. Edmond's many day spas are great places to relax and enjoy being pampered with the most current in soothing spa treatments.

If shopping is your preferred choice of recreation Edmond has just the ticket. Downtown Edmond is a vibrant and eclectic shopping district with more than 30 shops located right where Rt. 66 takes a jog south. There are numerous other shopping zones. Check out the shopping section of this publication to find the one convenient to you.

Visit Edmond's beautiful parks during your stay. You'll enjoy scenic trails and play areas nestled in the unique flora and fauna of Oklahoma's Cross Timbers region. Several of the parks feature outstanding sport facilities and host state and regional youth sports events.

Edmond loves to celebrate and produces some really exciting annual events. Be sure to check out list of annual events for information on what's going on throughout the year. And for more information, please visit the Edmond Convention & Visitors Bureau located at 1030 S. Bryant., call us at (866) 341-4344 or visit: www.visitedmondok.com.

Thank You for choosing UCO. We are sincerely honored to be your student's home away from home during this time of enrichment and hope that you enjoy your stay each time you visit.

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs)

How can I access my student's grades, academic standing, tuition and fees status?

There are two forms you and your student must sign in order for you to have access to any of their records. Contact the Undergraduate Admissions Office and the Financial Aid Office for the release of information form.

How does my student set up an email account?

Your student has an email account automatically set up for them through the UCONNECT portal. If your student is unsure of their UCONNECT login information, they can visit <http://uconnect.uco.edu> with their UCO student ID number. Step-by-step instructions are provided for retrieval of a UCONNECT username and password.

How can my student find information about campus jobs?

The key to finding employment at the university is showing a willingness to work and being open to all types of jobs. Visit jobs.uco.edu for a complete listing of on-campus jobs.

Who do I talk to about billing questions?

Contact the Bursar office at (405) 974-2228 for questions about your statements. Remember your student can access billing information and online payment options by logging in to UCONNECT.

My student is moving off campus. What are some resources they can access to help them with their search?

The Office of Commuter Student Services is available to help students find a place to live in the Edmond area.

Please contact Rachel Parks and the Commuter Student office with questions. (405) 974-3655 or rparks2@uco.edu.

Where can my student and I learn more about study abroad programs?

The Center for Global Competency has study abroad programs available for your students to travel to and attend classes in locations such as: Mexico, Spain, France, Italy, Switzerland, Vietnam, Taiwan, China and South Korea. Contact Marco Rodriquez with questions. (405) 974-2447 or mrodriquezlinares@uco.edu.

How does my student change residence hall rooms if he/she doesn't like his/her roommate?

If your student is having issues with a roommate, meal plan or living arrangements they need to contact their RA (residence assistant) or the housing office: (405) 974-2746

How can my student get involved on campus?

UCO offers 200 different organizations to help meet the needs of our students. They need to visit the website for student organization at www.uco.edu/student_life/orgs or Janis Ferguson at (405) 974-2625.

Will my student be assigned an academic advisor?

All students are initially seen by Central's freshman advisement staff. Upon reaching sophomore status, students will begin visiting with a program advisor in their chosen major. In some major fields students will also be assigned a faculty advisor by their college or department. Students who are unsure who their advisor is should visit the Center for Undergraduate Academic Advisement.

If my student needs to miss class due to illness, injury, or family emergency, what should he or she do?

In case of emergency or illness, students should contact their professor or the college dean's office for assistance. In the event of an anticipated long term absence, students can also contact the Student Conduct Office for assistance. (405) 974-2361

How are grades reported?

Students can access their grades on UCONNECT (via internet).

How does UCO address drug and alcohol use and abuse?

University of Central Oklahoma is a "dry campus." We do not allow alcohol on campus for any university related event. Drug and alcohol abuse is not tolerated at the university, and students in violation are given appropriate disciplinary sanctions. Several peer education programs are in place to educate students on issues related to drug and alcohol use and abuse. ■

Pointers for Parents

1 Don't ask them if they're homesick.

The power of association can be a dangerous thing. For many students, the idea of being homesick doesn't occur until a family member calls and asks, "Are you homesick?"

The first few weeks of school are packed with activities and friends, and the challenge of meeting new people and adjusting to new situations takes a majority of a new student's time and concentration. Unless they're reminded of it (by a well-meaning parent), they'll probably be able to escape the loneliness and frustration of homesickness. Even if they don't tell you during those first weeks, they do miss you.

2 Ask questions but try not to ask too many.

First year students are "cool" (or so they think) and have a tendency to resent interference with their new-found lifestyle. But most still desire the security of knowing someone is interested in them.

Parental curiosity can be obnoxious and alienating or relief-giving and supporting, depending on the attitudes of the people involved. "I-have-a-right-to-know" tinged questions with ulterior motives should be avoided. However, honest inquiries and other "between friends" communication and discussion will do much to further the parent-student relationship.

3 Expect change.

Your student will change, either drastically within the first few months, slowly over four years, or at a rate somewhere in between. It's natural, inevitable, and it can be inspiring and beautiful. Often, though, it's a pain in the neck.

College, and the experiences associated with it, can cause changes in social, vocational, and personal behavior and choices. An up-to-now wallflower may become a fraternity sweetheart. A pre-med student may discover that biology is not his or her thing after all. Or a high school radical may become a college egghead.

You can't stop change. You may not even understand it. But it is within your power (and to your and your student's advantage) to accept it. Remember your student will basically be the same person you sent away to school, aside from some interest changes and personality revisions.

4 Visit your student.

Visits by parents – especially when accompanied by shopping sprees and dinners out – are another part of the college experience students are reluctant to admit liking but appreciate greatly. Pretended disdain of these visits is just another part of the college student syndrome.

These visits give the student a chance to introduce some of the important people from both home and school to each other. Additionally, it's a way for you to become familiar with, and gain more understanding of, your student's new activities, commitments, and friends.

Spur-of-the-moment surprises are usually not appreciated. Preemption of a planned weekend studying or other activities may have disastrous results. It's usually best to wait for Family Weekend to see your student and the school. That way, you may even get to see a clean room.

5 Trust them.

Finding yourself is a difficult enough process without feeling the people whose opinions you respect most are second-guessing. One of the most important things a parent can say is: "I love you and want for you all the things that make you the happiest; and I guess you, not I, are the one who knows best what those things are." Believe it, mean it, say it now.

What can you do as a parent to support your student during the beginning of the next semester?

Recognizing nonperformance in your student is a challenge – especially at long distance. One of the most important things a parent can do for a college-age student is to demonstrate interest. Being interested is different from being demanding. It is more "I'd like to know" than "You owe me this information." ■

A Parent's Calendar of Questions

Sometimes parents have to search for just the right questions to ask their first-year students. We have compiled the following list that may just help you get all the right answers!

TIME OF THE YEAR	QUESTION?
August/January (before classes begin)	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ Have you found all your classrooms? ▶ Do you have all your books? ▶ Do you have a day planner?
September/February	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> ▶ How is living on campus or commuting? ▶ How are your instructors at this point? ▶ Are you using your planner? ▶ Are you going to class? ▶ Have you met any interesting people? ▶ Tell me about the books you are reading for class. ▶ Are you able to keep up with the required work? ▶ Does your job interfere with your study schedule? ▶ What UCO events have you attended? ▶ What student clubs are you thinking about joining?

Do you have a busy schedule? No time to attend classes?
Family obligations? Serving in the military?
Going overseas? Are you a non-traditional student?
Would you like to finish your degree?

UCO'S DISTANCE EDUCATION DIVISION PROVIDES STUDENTS WITH THE MOST FLEXIBLE LEARNING ENVIRONMENT POSSIBLE IN TODAY'S MOBILE AND FAST PACED WORLD. OUR MISSION IS TO PROVIDE INNOVATIVE AND FLEXIBLE LEARNING OPPORTUNITIES TO ANYONE, ANYWHERE, AT ANY TIME.
